RICHMOND MAN CRUSHED TO DEATH BY S. O. TROLLEY; CAR JUMPS TRACK

Body Of Aged Employee Is Nearly Severed By Blow; Warning Given

VICTIM RAN DOWN TRACKS BEFORE
APPROACHING TROLLEY SAY
FELLOW EMPLOYEES

Louis Burnham, 63, of 2103 Barrett avenue, was killed almost instantly early yesterday afternoon when a narrow gauge trolley at the Standard Oil plant where he was employed as pipe line inspector, ran over him almost severing his body.

DID NOT SEE TROLLEY

Witnesses reported that Burnham was walking along the track and apparently did not notice behind him the approach of the trolley which was pushing a trailer in front of it.

EMPLOYEES SHOUT WARNING

Employees at the plant shouted a warning and Burnham turned in time to see the trolley bearing down upon him. He is said to have started to run down the middle of the track, and when the peril became imminent, to have attempted to jump off the track to safety. Then, either tripping across the rail or slipping, Burnham fell prostrate across the track. The front trucks of the trailer passed over his body, and the rear trucks in striking him, slid him along the track for a distance of 28 feet. The rear trucks then hit him and the car was derailed.

CRUSHED BY TRUCKS

Burnham was rushed to the Standard Oil Emergency hospital but was believed to have either been killed outright or to have died en route to the hospital. He was practically crushed to a jelly, the trucks having almost severed his body just above the hips.

John Murray was motorman of the trolley.

ATLANTIC FLARES SPUR NEWSEARCH FOR AIR PRINCESS

HALIFAX, (N. S.), Sept. 2.—The wireless station at Cape Race, N. F., advised the naval dockyard here this afternoon of a message received from the Dutch steamer, Blijdendijk stating that 6 a. m., G. M. T., yesterday the vessel sighted a white light, probably belonging to an airplane in latitude 39.28 north, longitude 64.43 west. The light was proceeding in an easterly direction.

OFF COURSE

If the light should prove to be that of the missing St. Raphael, the trans-Atlantic plane carry the Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim, Colonel F. F. Minchin and Captain Leslie Hamilton, from England to Canada, it indicates that she was far south of her course and probably lost her way, as the steamer reported the light moving eastward, away from the plane's destination.

FIRST WORD

It would also be the first positive word of the plane since she was sighted over Galloway Bay, Ireland, at 7:30 a. m., on Wednesday, after leaving Upavon, England, at 2:35 a. m., on that day.

The Blijdendijk, a freighter, left Norfolk, Va., at 6 o'clock Monday night, with a general cargo for Rotterdam, the Holland-American Line, owners and operators of the steamer, said.

STEAMER SIGHTS PLANE

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The air ministry tonight received a radio message from the master of the Standard Oil steamer Josiah Macy, stating that 9:44 p. m. Greenwich mean time, on August 31, an airplane passed them at latitude 53:15 longitude 29:45.

IN MID OCEAN

The air ministry stated that the message from the Josiah Macy said the steamer saw the airplane in mid-Atlantic Wednesday night, in direct line with North Scotland.

POSTPONEMENT IN KEY HEARING

The hearing of the Key System Transit company for permission to abandon its cross-town tracks and surrender the franchise scheduled for yesterday before the State Railroad Commission was postponed upon the agreement of the Key System and the City of Richmond. November 1, is the date that in all probability will be set by the commission for the hearing. Both sides are negotiating and it is believed that an agreement can be reached whereby each will make concession.

SERIAL IS ROMANTIC THRILLER

A new serial of life on the race track, love in the days of the mauve decade, adventure and danger that equals any of the more sophisticated century, began today in the RECORD-HERALD.

"The First Auto" holds the interest from start to finish. It is a romantic story replete with thrills that have their origin in the deadly rivalry existing between a daredevil race-track man and his nemesis, an unscrupulous auto fan.

Automobiles were not popular in these days. The hero is disowned by his father for his addiction to the "infernal machines" and no one seems to care but the girl, but they made real girls in the nineties.

"The First Auto" starts today on page 2. Don't miss an installment.

Whoops, M'Dear! Barbers Pose For Photos

"That's the man who talked an ear off me last September in Spokane!"

"And that's the son of a gun who slashed me when I refused a shampoo!"

This is a futuristic word picture of next year, depicting two patrons of the striped pole looking over the gallery of all the barbers in California.

For know ye! All barbers—18,000 of them in the state—must have their pictures taken, according to an order from the state board of barber examiners, which served notice that all applications for barbering licenses must be accompanied by photographs.

Approximately 50 journeymen and master barbers in Richmond will be affected by the news, according to Tom Vestal, secretary of the barbers' union.

Seventeen thousand veterans who have been practicing at least two years and have lived in the state for one year will receive licenses for $2 without examination. Others must pay $10 for a state examination and $2 for a license.

Application blanks will be ready September 10 and must be filed by October 28.

Richmond Grid Team Victors Over Oakland Tech By 25-0

Team Shows High-Class
In First Game Of
Year's Season

Coach Ivan Hill's Union high school warriors ushered in the 1927 season yesterday afternoon with a trip to Oakland Tech's grounds. They came back to Richmond victors, defeating their rivals for the ninth time. The score was 25 to 0.

GOOD MATERIAL

Fast playing throughout the quarters showed the material the team has to work with this year. Straight-line driving carried the ball over the line for the first touchdown. The second score was made when Tech fumbled the ball Richmond recovering and carrying the ball across the line. An intercepted forward pass won the third touchdown for Richmond. Tech's punt from their 25-yard line was blocked by Diamanti who carried the ball over for the fourth touchdown.

CHEEKY OF FOULS

C. D. Horner, who refereed the game declared that it was quite clean of fouls throughout. "They are the best fighting bunch of kids I've seen in years," he declared. "They got the breaks of course, but they made them. They were on the spot without hesitation. The tackling was hard and good throughout."

Richmond: Jackson, center; Rountree and Diamanti, guards; Schaefer and Fischer, tackles; Johnson and Fitzpatrick, ends; Williams and Bungarner, quarterback; Swensen and Sakal, left half; Scarsella, right half and Baldwin, full-back.

Oakland Tech: Sells and Barnes, ends; G. Nordstrom and Lang, tackles; Hall and Ponsart, guards; H. Nordstrom, center; Cattolica, right-half; Godder, right half; McLeod, quarter-back and Albright full-back.

Touchdowns were made by Baldwin, 2; by Scarsella, 1; and by Diamanti, 1.

DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM HELD UTILITY NEED

Means of Acquiring Own
System Described By George Pardee

Dr. George C. Pardee, president of the East Bay Municipal Utility district, speaking of the need for a distribution system for the district at a board meeting last night declared:

Oakland and its neighboring cities started, a couple of three years ago, to get a complete water system thereby to solve their water problem, which is the first step in the proper municipal development. And that complete a distribution system. First, the Mokelumne as the source of that water, and second, a distribution system to serve the Mokelumne water to the people of the East Bay Municipal Utility District. Without the second, the first will be merely a burden of heavy annual taxes, plus the constantly increasing millions our people will be annually paying to the East Bay Water Company—$3,750,000, for the interest on the $35,000,000, or, so, the Mokelumne will cost, plus the water company's income something like $4,500,000 this year, $4,800,000 next year, $5,100,000 the year after, and so on, world without end, Amen!

But, with the Mokelumne, costing something like $35,000,000, and a distributing system, costing something like $25,000,000, or more, and even with only the water company's last year's income of $4,200,000 to say nothing of this year's $4,500,000 or the next year's $4,800,000, and so on—we could pay the interest on the something like $60,000,000.

Doughty Lions Trim Rivals, Kiwanians Hint Treachery

The Lions did as they said they would. They beat their hated rivals the Kiwanis club by a score of 10 to 3 yesterday afternoon at First street park.

CLUBS TIED

Now the clubs stand tied, each having won from the other. Dr. R. R. Root, manager of the Kiwanians last night declared that another game was an absolute necessity to decide which was the undisputed champion. The third clash will probably take place at an early date.

BENEFIT GAME

The game yesterday was for the benefit of the War Mother's memorial building fund and each side drew a large crowd to the grandstand. As a result of the game, the memorial fund will be swelled by a generous amount.

Richmond Musical Club Is Entertained In Berkeley

One of the most enjoyable events in the history of the "Richmond Musical Club" took place yesterday, when Mrs. Myrtle Stannage Brown entertained the members at her home, 624 Santa Barbara street, Arlington Heights, Berkeley.

The spacious home was beautifully decorated, the color scheme being purple and gold.

The morning was spent in choral practice. At exactly the noon hour the members were ushered into the banquet room and served a most delicious repast, by the hostess assisted by her charming daughter, Miss Dorothy.

The afternoon program was as follows:
Piano Selections—
"Grand Polka De Concert—

Wallenhapp.
"Valse Caprice"—Newland, by Mrs. Edith Overman.

Vocal Solo—
"Your Friendship"—Composed and sung by Mrs. Edith Overman.

The house was then darkened and house illuminated. Descending down the stairway came Miss Dorothy Brown dressed in costume of old Colonial days. She gave a talk on "New World Symphony" and after relating the tale of "Massa Dear" she executed it in song with her most pleasing voice and charming manner.

Vocal Duet—
"Sweet and Low"—Johnson—

SALVATION INC.

We have never seen a member of the Salvation Army in a dress suit. If any member or officer of the Salvation Army ever drove around in a Packard it was done along some street or highway, out of our view. Nor have we ever known of any heavy haberdashery bills being incurred by the organization or its people.

The people in the Salvation Army wear uniforms of cheap and serviceable material as a distinguishing mark, but the blue cloth with mild decorations of red and blue felt and varnished insignia do not constitute the real distinguishing mark of this organization. That is found in a service of the Lord that is as pure as diamonds compared with the gilt. The Salvation Army has service ribbons for those of it who have been enlisted for certain periods of time and other badges for those who have devoted enough of themselves to the cause to use in its councils.

This writer does not pretend to tell a commander from a lieutenant or a corporal in the Salvation Army, but he does feel that whenever he sees the uniform and whatever its decorations, he is gazing upon someone who has a heart, and that is a great deal in this age.

The proposed "Salvation Navy" does not in our judgement require to exist for any reason whatever. It has a cause but not an excuse for being.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

September 1

This is the birthday of Snookums, the Newlyweds' baby. His real name is Sunny McKeen, and he was less than 18 months old when he began to act in the motion pictures. This infant prodigy must, of course, have been born under a lucky star. He was The Moon was in trine to Mars, Venus and the Sun, and the three latter were blending their rays in Virgo. When Venus and the Sun merge their vibrations they endow the child born at that time with artistic talent; when Mars is there also, there is great precociousness; when the Moon sends favorable vibrations, there is opportunity.

In the case of this fortunate baby, these powerful vibrations came through Virgo, the health-giver of the signs, and added the precious possession of a healthy and well-developed body. When Snookums came into the world, Venus was about two and a half degrees from the Sun. The beautiful goddess reached the place of the Sun just before he was two years of age and, before he could understand what it was all about, laid at his baby feet a measure of success which some of us spend a lifetime in trying to gain.

It might seem as though such success as has come to Baby Snookums, or, let us say, the wealth and power that are inherited by some children, might prove detrimental in the long run. Sometimes it does. But Virgo's head is not easily turned. The Virginian is too analytical and too critical, both of himself and others.

He is quite aware of his own cleverness — and he usually is clever — and finds it difficult to understand the stupidity of some of his associates, but he is also conscious of his own limitation. Sometimes he is a snob, but he is always an admirer of character and of intellectual attainment.

Vigorous Health

I have two boys, aged 1 and 6. Do they need special exercise?

In most cases children of this age, if normal, will secure all the exercise they need from active outdoor play. However, there is no objection to giving special exercise for the double purpose of developing the habit early and to perfect the body to the highest possible point.

Exercise will also teach grace and rhythm, even ordinary calisthenics. It is well to do the exercises to music, if possible. The exact movements used do not matter particularly as long as all the larger groups of muscles are employed. Of course, if some parts of the body are in need of extra development, or there is some special deformity carefully planned exercises are always required.

A NOVEL EXERCISE

School Teacher to needy pupil: "Mary, I thought I told you not to come to school till you had taken a bath."

Mary—"I can't take a bath, teacher."

Teacher—"What's the reason?"

Mary—"My big brother's getting married soon, and the bathtub's full of wine."

FRANK LEE.

One Sunday morning, not so long ago, I boarded a trolley on my way home from church. I chanced to sit beside a little fellow about five years of age. I love children, and soon we were chatting away like old friends.

"Well, sonny, have you been to Sunday school?" I asked. He nodded in the affirmative.

"What was the Golden Text?" I queried.

Imagine my surprise when he answered in his childish little way, "Many are called, but few are chosen."

THE MISMALED PHYSICAL TYPE WOMAN AND MENTAL TYPE MAN

Science has not yet solved the problem of marriage, but it is constantly making valuable contributions. It cannot create love and harmony, but it can point the way to attaining them. These are essential to a happy home. Of all the problems with which we have to deal, the problem of marriage is perhaps the greatest.

When people understand their physical types and the types of others, there will be fewer discordant conditions in their homes. Frequently people become physical and mental wrecks because of living together where there are discordant vibrations.

This illustration shows a mismatched couple, a small mental type man and a stout, physical woman. The difference in their types is extreme, yet we often see just such unions. As the name implies, the mental man is the student type, the clerical artistic, detailed worker, not the business man. He knows practically nothing about putting over a deal. He would like to be popular and would enjoy associating with the best society. To him success in life means largely "keeping up with the Joneses."

But the wife is the plain, practical woman who holds the strings tight. She is wholly unwilling to spend money for the pretty hats, dainty clothes, and the permanent waves her husband admires. She wants to accumulate and save money. He seeks admiration and fame. This difference in their ambitions and tastes means disharmony. While this woman is the "boss" of the household she is affectionate and wishes to be loved and petted. This husband is the type who tells his wife he loves her when he marries her, and expects her to "love" him for granted.

If the way to this husband's heart were through his stomach, he would be a different man. But the wife is the plain, practical woman who holds the strings tight. She is wholly unwilling to spend money for the pretty hats, dainty clothes, and the permanent waves her husband admires. She wants to accumulate and save money. He seeks admiration and fame. This difference in their ambitions and tastes means disharmony. While this woman is the "boss" of the household she is affectionate and wishes to be loved and petted. This husband is the type who tells his wife he loves her when he marries her, and expects her to "love" him for granted.

Here's The Best Remedy For Pimples, Miss, Plain Water

By LADY BEATRICE GREY

Over and over again I have to tell girls who write to me for advice about their complexion not to be afraid of good pure soap and water.

They say they have tried this preparation and that lotion and still the pimples persist. They always insist they have tried everything. But upon quizzing them carefully I find that they have really neglected nature's own lotion—pure soft water.

They wash in milk, they wash in honey. But I have never heard of a girl yet who assiduously used good pure water who had a really poor complexion.

Now, I know there are some of you who are going to say that all water is not alike. I know that as well as you do. That is why I stipulate PURE soft water.

Only when this is unavailable can I heartily suggest anything to take its place.

Poor complexions come, mainly from two causes—plain ordinary personal uncleanness and basic bodily disorders.

It is easy to eliminate the first cause—a little more difficult to completely eradicate the second.

I wonder why it is young girls have such a hard time keeping their necks clean. It doesn't seem to me that I used to notice it

Clockwork Wife

The wife is methodical and systematic; she wants everything to go like clockwork. He is procrastinating, and cannot regulate his time or systematize his business. Often you find his wife seeking ways to "earn money at home." She is desirous of having a comfortable home, and a nice automobile later on. He lives one day at a time and believes in letting the future take care of itself. He argues that his way of thinking is right and tries to prove it to the neighbors when they come to call. It's rather hard to convince a woman of this type that her husband is ever right.

In the union of the practical woman and the artistic man there will be much adjustment, for they naturally pull in opposite directions. In marriage, both must pull at the same end of the rope to get results. Constant disagreeing and inharmonious life will weaken courage, destroy ambition and wreck the foundation of any home. A successful marriage means mutual understanding, mutual interest, and a constant striving toward the same goal.

THE FIRST AUTO

Copyright 1927 Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.

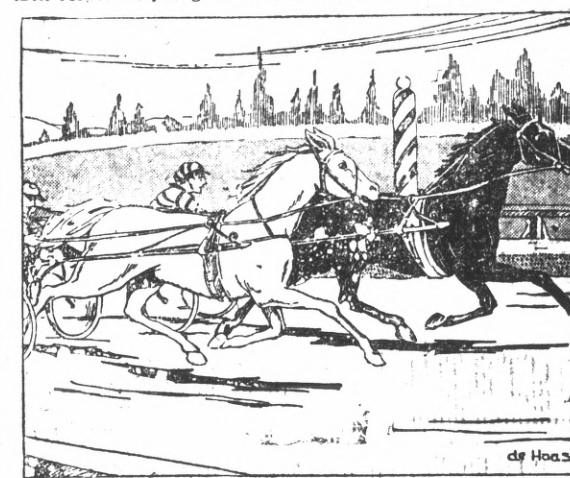

THE FIRST AUTO, with Barney Oldfield and Patsy Ruth Miller is a Warner Bros. production of this novel.

The blistering sun of an August afternoon beat mercilessly down upon the heads of the throng gathered about the Maple City race track. Smokey clouds of dust rose and fell around the seething feet that wormed their ways to better positions nearer the fence. The thriving little Main Street of the mid-western town was deserted for the time being, and its unpaved thoroughfares were stirred only now and again by a late-comer who drove frantically down the highway headed for the fairgrounds.

The crowds that had that morning halted in admiration before the flaming posters which announced to the waiting world: "Trotting Races, Logan County Fair, Maple City, August 7, 8, 9. Sloe Eyes vs. Blue Bell. Every heat a race," had now foregathered to discover the truth of the statement.

For miles around farms had disgorged their live warrens of fam, two horses are side by side. Then with a sport Sloe Eyes passes Blue Bell. Down goes the Judges' flag! Won by a length!

Pandemonium reigned in the grand stand. Hats fly into the air. Men slap each other on the back. Women's parasols flutter. Children race for the exits to be dragged social event of the season. For such was the era which bade God speed to the parting Victorians and ushered in this scientific age of Freud and the bootlegger. Such was the time when a horse was a horse and loved as a horse; this was even before Dan Patch started breaking records or the Vanderbilt races had come to displace the county fair. The latest thing out was a bicycle built for two, and the first girl had yet to take home from an auto ride, Bryan hadn't begun to run for the Presidency; Lindbergh wasn't even born and a nickel was still respected.

At the creek of the pistol and the tense shout "They're off!" the flaming silks of the drivers' caps gleam in the blazing sun and shirt sleeves billow and belly in the breeze of their warlike creation. Like unearthly, distorted gnomes these three drivers seem, perched on the precarious, slender seats of the sulkeys. Neck to neck the first two trotters leg it, while in the rear, driving easily, carefully comes the third contestant for the exp. Round the bend they fly, inside position reckoning to little advantage. And then slowly the third horse begins to creep up. One quarter of a mile (reckoned by the pouncing hoofs) Now one of the leads falls back a little—but back. The third horse is gaining—gaining! Halt around, now!

The grand stand spectators rise as one person, straining eyes and necks to follow the swiftly moving figures. Shrieking, calling favorites, waving handkerchiefs, they watch, intent on the spectacle before them. Halt around! Even the barkers are silent and the vendors forget for the moment their wares.

"Come on, there!" "Atta Boy, Sloe Eyes!" "Sloe em, Blue Bell!" "Don't let 'em get you!" Cries issue from gaping mouths and parched throats. "Come on, Sloe Eyes.... Drive 'er, Hank!" Even Mayor Robbins, thin, stooped, hatless-faced man, whose hands look to be more familiar with the hoe than with the red plush of an executive office, cheers on his favorite. As though to encourage his friend in the gallery, Hank Armstrong lets out his horse, Sloe Eyes. He leans forward, whip in hand, his face set in an expression of determination. But the whip hand never moves—never flicks the mare's gleaming flanks. It is as though he were pouring his own soul into the body of the horse. A whisper, a soft cluck, the mare leaps forward. The second horse is passed!

The last lap! A starter to go. It's a race between Sloe Eyes and Blue Bell, now! A swift movement of throbbing rhythm and they're out on the home stretch.

His question was cut short by the Mayor's shout of exclamation, and at a gesture from his friend Hank turned toward Sloe Eyes. The not in a happy, holiday spirit, was placing a great horseshoe of flowers over the neck of the mare. At a signal from the Mayor, hats soared in the air, and the walkis resounded in the eyes of the Mayor. And then the tension broke; the Mayor laughed, and slapped his friend on the back with no small degree of heartiness. And Hank—Hank with the kind, keen eyes understood. But his victory was not without its sting. He looked towards the grand stand, longingly. "I don't see my boy, Bob," he turned to the Mayor. "You—you don't know where he is? Was he—"

At a signal from the Mayor, hats soared in the air, and the walkis resounded in the eyes of the Mayor. And then the tension broke; the Mayor laughed, and slapped his friend on the back with no small degree of heartiness. And Hank—Hank with the kind, keen eyes understood. But his victory was not without its sting. He looked towards the grand stand, longingly. "I don't see my boy, Bob," he turned to the Mayor. "You—you don't know where he is? Was he—"

A Youth Devouring Line Is The '40 Line', Madam 30

Are you 30? Beware the 40 line. What is the 40 line? Under your chin! Look yourself over, madam, and if that double chin is sharply designated by a well defined line you must exercise to efface it. Now, madam, don't think for a moment that the line is there because you are 30. We have seen the lines on the neck of Miss 20 Nor was it dissipation that marked it there. It was just plain carelessness of posture.

"Heads up!" No better warning cry could be used than that of the driver calling to pedestrians. "Heads up!" And the line will come out! Are you ashamed of anything? Well, then, keep your head down. One might think you had a heavy conscience or a great grief.

Hold up your head! Every morning and every night raise your chin up as fast as you can.

HELEN—Keeping your hairbrush fresh and clean is very necessary. You can't expect your hair to be fresh and shining if your hairbrush is dusty and grimy. Don't use soap and water, as the soap will soften the bristles. Dissolve a lump of soda, the size of a walnut, in a quart of hot water. After combing the hair from the brush, dip them up and down in this mixture until white and clean. Rinse the brush in cold water. Shake well. Wipe the back and handle with a towel—but not the bristles (this makes them soft) and get the brush, wrapped in paper, to dry in the sun.

NEW TRIAL IS ORDERED FOR "UKE" SLAYER

Because one juror repeatedly made statements that "she would hang anyone who drank," the Supreme Court yesterday reversed the decision of the Santa Clara Superior Court and granted a new trial to Fred Galloway, alias Fred Roland, convicted and sentenced to death last September for the murder of Andrew Pashuta in San Jose.

Galloway confessed to the murder of Pashuta the night of the Rose Festival in San Jose, May 22, 1926. In a signed statement to the police he declared that he and Pashuta, who had met a short time before through their ukulele playing, were very intoxicated at the time of the murder.

Galloway said that he told Pashuta he was a deserter from the United States Army. Pashuta then threatened to expose him, Galloway states and before his friend finished speaking he picked up the automobile crank and struck him four times, killing Pashuta. Galloway hid the body in a ditch and covered it with grass, where it was discovered some days later.

Affidavits from three people at the trial in which Galloway received the death penalty revealed statements made by Mrs. Ida M. Roberts, one of the jurors. It was because of these statements made before the trial that the Supreme Court reversed the previous decision and granted a new trial. The affidavits were sworn to by O. B. Brott, Mrs. Minnie Hussey and Alice M. Pratt.

To Brott, Mrs. Roberts is said to have declared that "she would hang anyone who would sink so low as to drink liquor." Galloway is doomed to the gallows, she is alleged to have told Mrs. Hussey, expressing at the same time a strong sympathy for Pashuta.

"Pashuta never drank until the night he went with Galloway," Mrs. Roberts told Alice Pratt, and "it was Galloway who led Pashuta astray by urging him to drink." It is alleged that Mrs. Roberts held telephone conversations with friends during the trial. To one of these friends she said that Galloway was a nice looking fellow and a smooth talker, but added that these assets wouldn't do him much good on the gallows.

To another friend she declared that the deputy district attorney was so "wonderful" and "oh, so masterful." She added to the same friend that Galloway's attorney could only make a weak argument in his defense.

'TEDDY' LEADS ROUGH RIDERS AT CALIFORNIA

Great pictures have that intangible something called spirit. Sometimes it's war. Often it is both, combined with the elements of humor and drama lifted to a zenith of popularity by the stirring performances of the players.

Taken all together, this a meager description of "The Rough Riders" which opened at the California theatre yesterday for a run of 2 days.

Picture if you can a nation thrown into a fever of patriotism by the sinking of the Maine—many remember it—visualize a man of dynamic instincts, picturesque leadership, and profound intelligence—things that appeal to men of all races and all classes—springing to the forefront of an epic campaign in behalf of human liberty. Such a man was Roosevelt. And thus he is portrayed in Paramount's splendid production.

Consider in this melodrama of war and sacrifice and deeds of daring a love theme contrived in two brave boys and a girl of rare sweetness and loveliness. Until you have seen "Charles Farrell, Charles Emmett Mack and Mary Astor in this unusual triumvirate of screen sentiment you will not appreciate how marvelously the drama of the human heart can be portrayed under circumstances that wrench and tear on's soul. It would be despoiling romance itself to divulge which one wins the girl.

The charge of the uniformed individualists, rangers and pampered society dandies, up San Juan Hill, is something never to be forgotten.

When Hermann Hagedorn, biographer for the immortal T. R., wrote "The Rough Riders" he created something distinctive from the depths of his being.

The picture is truly a new page in motion picture achievement. Other features include Felix in "Art for Heart's Sake" International News; and Larry Canelo at the organ.

RICHMOND HAS JOHN GILBERT IN BIG SUCCESS

John Gilbert, the famous dough-boy of "The Big Parade," isn't a one-actor role by any means. His greatest success was as the American soldier—and now he has turned about and scored another success just as great—as a young German.

All of which is to say that John Gilbert has done one of the greatest pieces of work in his career in "Flesh and the Devil," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's adaptation of Sudermann's "The Undying Past," now playing at the Richmond Theatre.

He has caught the idealism of the European youth and tinged it with the adventurous susceptibility to feminine charms that the author so graphically painted in word pictures; and from the Sudermann character he has evolved a new triumph.

Greta Garbo is the heroine, a charming exotic siren who charms him almost to doom, a literal modern prototype of German's legend of the Lorelei; Miss Garbo establishes a new school of screen vampire in her role in the new picture. She is compellingly convincing and dramatically charming, and when the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios lured her from Sweden they laid the foundation for a very great success. Lars Hanson is a compelling figure as the wronged husband, and George Fawcett, a dominant character as the old pastor. William Orlamond, Barbara Kent, Eugene Bessner and others of note have adequate roles.

Other film features include "Hoboken To Hollywood," a Mack Sennett comedy; and Felix in "Eye Jinks."

A little thing

THE power called habit is a little thing but it can pull your eyes open at a certain hour every morning, determines whether you dress the right or left foot first, drop a fixed amount of sugar into your breakfast coffee—free your mind for thoughts that demand actual choice.

The little habit of glancing over these advertising columns daily, checking this and that which appeal to you, frees your mind from any guesswork about the merits of a product; helps you choose wisely when you buy. If you are familiar with advertisements, you can discriminate merits, weigh one product against another, these truths against those. And the habit of buying only advertised goods takes the hazard out of shopping; puts in a good, sturdy sure.

NEGRO KILLER SHOT BY POSSE

VALLEJO, Sept. 2.—Roosevelt Glover, 224, a negro, formerly of Chicago, was shot and probably fatally wounded by deputy sheriff R. L. Cripps who with a posse of officers were seeking the negro for having shot and killed Constable Anson Burdick yesterday near Suisun.

Glover was located on the Blinn ranch 10 miles north of Suisun late today when he appeared at the ranch house of Mrs. Ralph Carter and demanded food. He demanded that the food be brought outside to him and then made his way to a ravine.

Suspecting the negro of being the man sought for the killing of Burdick, Mrs. Carter made her way to Makus Corner two miles distant where she telephoned the Suisun authorities.

SUISUN, Sept. 2.—The murderer of Constable Anson Burdick is still in the hills near Manker's corner, several miles from here and has changed his clothing to prevent identification if he is captured.

COAT, SHIRT FOUND
That is the opinion tonight of Sheriff John R. Thornton as he recognized his possessor of deputies and A. E. F. veterans for another all-night search. This theory is based on the finding of a coat and olive drab shirt hidden in the brush near the Miller ranch and the theft during the night of a saddle blanket from the Blume ranch, near Manker's corner.

BATTLE INDICATED
Constable Burdick put up a hard fight before he was killed, the sheriff said today after a thorough investigation at the scene of the murder. Evidence shows that Burdick and the negro had a hand-to-hand struggle at the side of the highway, the negro using a knife while Burdick attempted to get his gun into play. Several knife cuts mark Burdick's face and hands. Three bullet wounds were found in Burdick's body, the caliber corresponding with that of the pistol and kind of shells taken by the

WIFE OF KAI SKEK SCORES FOREIGNERS

(By Universal Service)

HONOLULU, Sept. 2.—Dressed in the manner of the occultist, her modish costume topped with a boyish bob, the wife of General Chiang Kai Shek, one of the leaders in the Chinese nationalist movement, arrived here today from China aboard the President Jackson.

Local Chinese said she was the number two wife of the famous Chinese soldier. She refused to discuss politics and declared the plans of her husband were unknown to her.

Position of the body in the automobile indicates, according to Thornton, that Burdick alighted from his car during the fight and that his body was afterwards forced back into the car where it was found.

ARREST SUSPECT
Three suspects have been arrested, one in Sacramento, one in Benicia, and one in San Francisco, but none of them could be identified by Mike Blainey, a hobo who rode from Santa Rosa to Fairfield yesterday in a freight car with a negro believed to be the killer. They will all be questioned further before they are released, Thornton said.

Twenty members of the American Legion, all veterans of the A. E. F., some of whom served with Thornton, offered their services yesterday and were sworn in as special deputies to assist in an all night search of the hills and a patrol of the highways.

The death of Burdick makes a widow of his bride of three months. Burdick took his bride home before following the negro to the city limits to escort him out of town, believing he told her, that he "had a hard man to deal with." The negro was ordered out of town by Burdick, who believed him responsible for a number of recent petty burglaries, but had no definite evidence against him.

The distinguished Chinese visitor asserted that sentiment in her country was favorable to the United States, but a district aversion was existing concerning the foreign armies now in China. She later qualified this statement by saying "Armies with Imperialistic Intentions."

After touring the city, with a body of local Chinese Nationalists acting as a body guard, the Chinese visitor called upon Governor Wallace R. Farrington.

More than 130 Chinese boxer indemnity students, on their way to schools in the United States, also arrived on the President Jackson.

At the Vallejo general hospital Glover admitted he was the man forced to leave Suisun yesterday. He said Burdick drew a knife on him and that he knocked it out of his hand. Then the constable drew his gun and in the scuffle the aged peace officer fired the shot that ended his life.

HONOLULU ACE DIES IN CRASH

HONOLULU, Sept. 2.—Captain John W. Signer, of Luke Field, was instantly killed today when his plane hit a telephone wire near Wahiawa, crashed to the ground and was destroyed by fire.

A sergeant observer, who was accompanying Captain Signer, was thrown clear of the plane and escaped with minor injuries.

The plane turned a complete somersault when it crashed into the wire. It landed right side up, but immediately burst into flames. Captain Signer was working in conjunction with the engineering corps when the accident occurred, in maneuvers.

The accident occurred at almost the exact spot where Lieut. Mangelman lost his life three years ago when his plane ran into a high tension wire and crashed.

Captain Signer is married, his wife, at present, is visiting in the United States.

INTER-CLASS FOOTBALL AT U. C. TODAY

BERKELEY, Sept. 3.—Coached fans of the Bay region will get their first taste of football 1927 brand—at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon when the first game of the University of California interclass series is played in the Memorial Stadium.

The sophomore team, coached by Coach Rice, star back of last year's California freshmen, will meet the junior team, tutored by Red Gill, varsity halfback. The winner is to play the championship senior team for the title on Saturday, September 10.

Tomorrow's game will draw to the stadium several thousand fans in addition to the California student body. The officials of the Associated Students expect last year's mark of 12,000 spectators for the series to be topped.

The sophomores are favored to win. While the junior aggregation contains many veterans of past interclass games, the sophomores surprised yesterday by their spirited play against a senior team from the U. S. S. Pennsylvania.

During an hour of scrimmage the second year men never failed to make a first down when they were given the ball against the more experienced and heavier seniors. Vallanos, a member of last season's freshman baseball team and one of the fastest men on any interclass team, is expected to star with his passing, running and kicking.

S. F. Financiers Plan for Camel Hunt In Arizona

TUSCON, ARIZ., Sept. 2.—The Southwest's unique experiment of adapting camels to commercial use, made prior to the Civil war, has been called to mind by announcement from San Francisco that a group of financiers are contemplating a camel hunting expedition.

Expenditures of $30,000 was authorized in 1855 to study camels. In May of that year Major H. C. Wayne was directed to obtain the camels. With Lieutenant David Porter, Major Wayne sailed on the vessel Supply, first going to the London Zoological Garden, thence to Paris, Pisa, Malta and Constantinople.

Discarding numerous decrepit animals offered as gifts to the United States Government by dignitaries, they purchased thirty-three camels, assembling them at Smyrna. Six calves were born en route home and five animals died, making thirty-four landed at Indianapolis, Texas, May 14, 1856.

Lieutenant Porter made a second trip, obtaining forty-one camels, which were brought to Arizona the following year.

Several Arabs, two Turks and two Greeks were imported to handle the camels. Many varied tests were made, and some officials became enthusiastic over the apparent success of the experiment.

Horses, mules and mule drivers alike developed keen dislike for the camels and were unfair in their treatment. Fleet dromedaries which should have had care similar to that given race horses, were over-fed, overwatered and overloaded and sent racing across the desert.

Edward F. Beale made a practical test of their use in a trip from Fort Defiance to the Colorado river in 1855, and grew to admire the quaint "ships of the desert."

Various causes contributed failure to the project. Southwestern sands, oblong and more crystalline, differed from the round sands of the homeland, and hurt the camels' feet. Ignorance and prejudice of persons handling them were another important factor, and the Civil war, coming at that time, took all attention from the experiment at all times.

A number of the animals were taken to Drum Barracks, Los Angeles, some sold to circuses and others turned loose on the desert. These animals were seen at intervals in scattered spots; and as they always brought consternation to mules and horses and trouble to mule drivers they were killed or driven away. The last camel captured was taken in Western Arizona in 1894 and none has been seen for a score of years.

Chicago In Frenzy As Tunney Arrives For Title Battle; Champion Promises Knockout.

By HERBERT WESTEN
Universal Service Staff
Correspondent

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Lusty Chicago, scrambling and rioting to pay its respects to a world's heavyweight champion, mobbed and thoroughly frightened Gene Tunney upon his arrival here today.

The city gave him a reception equal to that accorded Colonel Lingberg and caused him more nervous palpitations than Dempsey did in Philadelphia, he admitted. Tonight a very tired and rather bewildered young man eased himself into a chair at the Cedar Crest Country Club, his new training quarters, and said:

"I never want to go through a thing like that again. I thought they would tear me to pieces, people frighten me anyway, but it certainly was open hearted and generous of them."

Tunney was obviously nervous when the train pulled into the La Salle street station. The champion has been warned to expect some kind of a reception here, but being fully cognizant all so that he had not inflamed the world with his popularity as a title holder, he was completely carried off his feet.

"The crowd swept him by sheer force of numbers through the station, to the street. Police battled to get him into his automobile, and at several points on his way to the city hall, the mob broke through police lines and threatened to tear him from his car."

A startled, boyish smile broke out on the champion's face. He was thoroughly abashed and taken completely by surprise. Thousands of hands were raised as stenographers, bankers, street laborers, taxi drivers and even mothers clutching their offspring, fought to shake his hand.

The cheers swept through the canyons of the loop and aroused the inmates of office buildings and hotels who showered ticker tape and torn telephone directories on the uncovered head of the bashfully smiling champion.

Tunney grasped every hand that came within his reach and as the day wore on the lines of exhaustion were plainly apparent on his face.

No city ever staged a bigger ballyhoo for a prize fight. Jack Dempsey, who slipped quietly into Chicago a week ago, obeyed the rules of the game and remained in the back ground today. He did not work out, but spent the afternoon playing golf, while Gene was undergoing the rigors of being greeted by the mayor and a committee of politicians at the city hall.

At the city hall Gene was welcomed by Mayor Thompson and from that time on the champion was forced to listen to one continuous string of speeches. He was motored to the new Midwest Athletic Club and then taken for a drive through some of Chicago's best suburbs just to show the champion that there are nice people living here. Throughout the line of progress to his Lake Villa training quarters 50 miles northwest of Chicago Tunney cheered continuously by people lining the roads. His face finally took on a pained, confused look. It was all so few to this champion that he couldn't quite adjust himself. Only one accident marred the day. A motorcycle policeman escorting Tunney was seriously injured when he crashed into two other motorcycles.

Once at the camp, a beautiful spot lately occupied by Otto Lehmann, the millionaire, the champion's smile brightened. He fully approved of the selection and arrangements made by Billy Gibson, his manager, who has been on the spot supervising the building of two rigs and equipments and the gymnasium.

One critic, an avowed Dempsey man who has been watching the former champion work out here buttonholed the writer at the train this morning and said:

"You'll see Gene tonight. He knows how I feel about Dempsey. But tell him that I give up. I thought Jack looked bad before the Sharkey fight but now I don't give him more than five rounds." Tunney in his speeches to the Chicago mob promised them a knockout.

"I beat him last time on points. I have more confidence now. I expect to win by a knockout. I had one chance in the Philadelphia fight, but I missed it. I promise you I won't this time."

Tunney was thoroughly fatigued when it was all over and announced that he would not work out until Sunday, possibly not until Labor day. Every indication is given that a record crowd will be on hand to catch a first glimpse of him. Few here have ever seen the champion and they are more than normally curious.

As a climax to the Tunney reception an eleven-hour effort to stop the fight broke out this afternoon. B. E. Clements, president of this "Conservative Athletic Club," filed his long-expected petition in the circuit court for an injunction to prevent the battle.

Clements' bill named "Dempsey, Richard; Getz, Floyd; Fitzsimmons, the former Benton Harbor promoter, and the Illinois Athletic Commission as defendants.

The bill was based on Clements' claim to a contract with Dempsey more than a year ago, purchased by him from Fitzsimmons, to fight Noonan until he fought Harry Wills and in Chicago for the Coliseum club. Clements tried to collect before the Philadelphia fight last year, but failed.

HEART TROUBLE

Marvelously Relieved

While visiting her daughter here in Oakland, Mrs. W. H. Morton of Stockton was in such great pain from heart trouble that it affected her left hand. She could neither walk nor rest with the slightest exertion! All the physicians whom she consulted expressed the opinion that she had not more than ten days to live. She truly seemed to be at the point of death. From that city she sent her first package of the Fong Wan Herbs. It was cooked for her at home, and that night she had the first rest after many weeks of terrible suffering. After four weeks of the Fong Wan Herb Treatment, she was able to return to her home in Stockton. From that city she has sent the following testimonial to the Fong Wan Herb Co.:

OWES HER LIFE TO FONG WAN HERBS
Stockton, Cal. March 21, 1927.
To the Fong Wan Herb Co. I have been a sufferer with valvular trouble of the heart for some time. I became so ill that my doctors, who were many, gave me but a week or ten days to live.

I decided to try the Fong Wan Herb Co., and to the amazement of all who attend me, I was able to walk into their office after taking the Herbs one week. I have now taken them four weeks and I not only have a good heart, but have also been helped in other ailments.

I cannot speak too highly of the Fong Wan Herbs, as I owe my life to them. I am very grateful to Fong Wan for his kindness.

NATIONALISTS, NORTH CHINESE IN HOT BATTLE

SHANGHAI, Sept. 2.—Choiara is reported to have joined forces of the Nationalist troops in pushing General Sun Chuan-fang's Northern army back from the Yangtze, where, according to Nationalist accounts, the General lost 20,000 men in combat during the heavy fighting of the past week. Foreign dispatches from Nanking state that cholera epidemic is taking a heavy toll among the soldiers in that district. "Bodies are piled high on the river banks," say the vernacular papers here, "and hundreds are floating in the river. It is impossible to buy the dead. Medical aid is inadequate."

General Sun Chuan-fang's rapid and spectacular drive to the Yangtze from Shantung during recent weeks, in which he forced back the Nationalists to the south of that great waterway, would appear from dispatches received here to have collapsed completely.

The Northerners are said to be retreating along the Tientsin-Pukow railway, having reached Pukow, having Pukow in the hands of the Nationalists.

The Nationalists announce that the way to Peking is once more open. General Sun Chuan-fang's reported sudden retreat northward is explained in dispatches as being mainly due to the fact that the Hankow forces, previously announced as planning to join the Nanking moderate nationalists, are said to be taking an active part in the renewed Nationalist drive. The Kankow contingent is said to be pushing toward Anhwei province toward Pengpu.

Boulder Dam Is Topic At Meet Of Kiwanians

Richmond Rotarians yesterday were told of the benefits that would accrue to the nation, state and the development of the Imperial Valley, when Burdett Moody of the Boulder Dam association, traced the development of the Boulder Dam project.

The history of the project was traced by Moody who told of the All-American canal, the Imperial Valley needs, the Lower Colorado river plans and the Kinkaid and the Swing-Johnson acts.

The dam will create a lake 80 miles long and will impound more water than all the reclamation projects of America combined. It will save the Imperial Valley from complete destruction, he declared. P. M. Sanford, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was chairman of the day. Charles Rexwick told of his recent trip. Henry Johnson spoke of the new steamer California, electrically driven and built at a cost of $7,000,000, which will soon be placed on the San Francisco to New York run. A feature of the ship will be the 100 car garage and all outside staterooms.

HUGE STILL IS TAKEN BY DRYS DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM HELD NEED

GILROY, Sept. 2.—A distilling plant, so large one copper column was forty feet high, that flooded the Santa Clara valley with 2000 quarts of liquor every twenty-four hours, and that was protected from surprise by an elaborate electric wiring system to "lookouts" a third of a mile distant on the hillside, was the prize seized by Federal prohibition agents near Gilroy Wednesday, and described by Agent T. W. Goodwin before United States Commissioner Krull yesterday.

Three men were arrested in the daylight raid through fruit orchards and three escaped. The arrested men gave their names as John H. Williams, George Lauer and John Cerene, and Krull continued their cases yesterday and held them in $5,000 bond each.

According to Goodwin's account the distillery was one of the largest ever uncovered in the State. It was situated on Arthur Creek in a large wooden building and comprised a 750-gallon "cooker," two copper columns forty and twenty-five feet high, and other auxiliary apparatus with a total capacity of 500 gallons of alcohol daily. Goodwin said. The agents seized 1000 gallons of mash and 1750 gallons of alcohol on storage.

According to Goodwin, there were two signal wires, one 400 feet long and terminating in an orchard near the highway, the other 1700 feet long and running to the "lookout" on the hillside from which sentries could observe the entire valley and the main highway a mile distant. At the end of each wire was a button, which rang a bell in the distillery, and Goodwin said that as he and others of the posse advanced through the orchard toward Arthur creek there was a constant chiming of bells of the plant, and that the operators scattered. The men arrested were found in the vicinity. Krull after the hearing yesterday, continued the case until Tuesday.

Fall Program Of Comrade Clubs Is Opened

The fall program of the Comrade clubs of the local Y. M. C. A. began last night with a set-up meeting for the four clubs. A. W. Mueller, secretary of the local Y. M. C. Another meeting for the purpose of announcing complete plans for the year, will be held, Friday September 9, when inter-club activities will be outlined. The Comrade clubs meet once every month at the Y. M. C. A. and once a week at their own headquarters. The four clubs and their leaders are: Francis Asbury, leader, Rev. M. H. Greenlee; McKinley, leader P. A. Bussow; Trojan, leader Doctor Lowell Sears; Rodger Williams, leader John Duarte.

Plane Old Glory Ready For Hop

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—"Old Glory," the Rome-and-Return biplane, was waiting on the runway at Roosevelt field at 6 o'clock tonight waiting a chance in the wind to send it off on its long flight.

Lloyd Bertaud and J. D. Hill, co-pilots of the big ship, plan not only to span the Atlantic and land in Italy but intend to make a search for the "Flying Princess" and her two aerial attendants en route.

However, there seemed to be little chance of the wind changing and it was feared that the plane would not be able to take the air before tomorrow.

Round The World Flyers Arrive In Bagdad

BAGDAD, Sept. 2.—The Endeavour, round-the-world plane arrived at Bagdad at 9:30 a. m. today from Constantinople, which city it left at 5:30 a. m., following receipt of government permission to fly over Turkish territory. They had hoped to get here by 4:30.

William S. Brock and Edward Sohier, the airmen of the Detroit reached Constantinople from Belgrade, Yugoslavia, shortly before noon Wednesday and became involved in Turkish red tape, which would not permit them to take off on the next lap of their flight until authorization was given by the Turkish military authorities at Ankara.

As patiently as they could they waited all Wednesday afternoon and throughout Thursday for the permit to fly over Anatolia, but it did not reach them until late last night.
